An Extraordinary Artist to Celebrate the Cascapedia River Museum's 10th Anniversary

PETER CORBIN

Three Rivers - One Artist's View

June 7 - September 25, 2010

The Cascapedia River Museum is pleased to announce the exhibition Three Rivers - One Artist's View by Peter Corbin. The artist's tribute to the Grand Cascapedia, Moisie and Restigouche consists of new oil paintings, graphite drawings, photography and written reflections on the three rivers he has painted, photographed, and fished for over 35 years.

Peter Corbin

Peter Corbin's career has produced a body of work bearing comparison to the likes of A.B. Frost and Ogden Pleissner and has established him as one of the finest American sporting artist's of his generation. Peter Corbin's work is on public display at The National Art Museum of Sport, The Leigh Yawkey Woodson Art Museum, The American Museum of Fly Fishing and The Catskill Fly Fishing Center and Museum. Included in his list of awards is being chosen five times as the Atlantic Salmon Federation Artist of the Year.

The Cascapedia River Museum

The Grand Cascapedia is a fabled river known by most fishermen for its large Atlantic salmon also called the Cascapedia Giants. It is a river where fishing stories are told and the dreams of catching an Atlantic salmon come to life when one finally gets to throw a line over its sparkling waters. Its history tells the tale of a destination that was chosen by men and women of means, who came to the river in search of the sport of salmon fishing. To discover the history that this museum holds is to add to the experience of fishing on the Grand Cascapedia. A guided tour takes the visitor on an adventure into the illustrious life of a river that has captured the imagination of men and women from all walks of life.

The exhibition will be on view at the Cascapedia River Museum
275 Route 299, Cascapedia- St. Jules, Quebec - Gallery Hours: 9 AM to 4:00 PM

Opening Reception, Friday, June 25th
